Virginia Is Formidable.

The Georgetown University baseball team will leave on its initial trip for the 1907 season Saturday morning, beaded toward Charlottesville, Va., where on the afternoon of the same day Georgetown and Virginia will renew their struggle for supremacy.

Since the resumption of athletic relations between the institutions, George-

Montgomery was taken ill after the and Blue has triumphed in football.

Extensive preparations have been made for Saturday's game by the Virtur days. The plucky little twirler ginia people. Virginia's team this year ranks with the best of them, and the Southerners expect to take Georgetown's scalp. Susong, the veteran twirler, is better than ever this year, as can be seen by his work against Princeton, Pennsylvania, and Columbia.

Georgetown's chances received a great boost yesterday when it was announced that Johnny Maloney and Joe Montgomery would be out for work again today. Maloney has been under the faculty ban since last Friday, and has Manager McLaughlin has completed

FARMERS BEAT TECH

Technical High School lost to the Maryland Agricultural College, at College Park, Md., yesterday afternoon by 8 to 5. The fielding of both teams was ragged. Jarrell allowed Tech only two hits, while the Farmers copped seven off Reichard, but the game was played in a snowstorm, and fast fielding was almost impossible. The weather probably accounts for the even dozen errors, which the teams divided.

HAND-MADE LACE DRESS.

Six years, 540 yards of duchess silk lace, 400 yards of silk thread, and an infinite amount of patience were consumed by Miss Amelia M. Redel, of Marshalltown, Ia., in making a black lace dress she is showing to friends in Chicago. Miss Redel conceived the ddea of a hand-made lace dress six years ago, and immediately set to work to carry out that idea. Last week she finished her task. The waist and skirt each are in one piece. The design was worked out over a foundation of cambric.
